Using Evidence-Based Behavioral Interventions in the Home

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Understand why young children engage in challenging behaviors

Identify a home routine in which your child consistently engages in challenging behaviors

Identify 1-2 preventative strategies you can try during these challenging times

Emily J. Eames, M.Ed., BCBA

Emily has a master's degree in Early Childhood Special Education and Applied Behavior Analysis from Vanderbilt University. She is an internationally Board-Certified Behavior Analyst (BCBA). In her ABA training, she worked with young children to develop early learning skills and reduce challenging behavior in school, clinic, and home-based settings. Emily has been an early childhood special educator at Racker in Ithaca for two years, first in the Duck classroom, and now in the Hedgehog Partnership classroom. Emily is passionate about the systematic teaching of social-emotional, communicative, and adaptive skills to young children in inclusive early childhood settings.
